

Department of Social and Cultural Sciences presents
The 2009 McGee Lecture

Losing the Vote: Felony Disenfranchisement and American Democracy

Who: Marc Mauer, the executive director of
The Sentencing Project

When: Thursday, April 23rd at 7:00 PM

Where: Cudahy Hall, Room 001

Marc Mauer, the executive director of the Sentencing Project, author of Race to Incarcerate and editor of Invisible Punishment: The Collateral Consequences of Mass Imprisonment is coming to Marquette University to discuss the disqualification of the right to vote for individuals convicted of a felony. The historic expansion of the felony convictions and incarceration has led to an entire class of individuals who are ineligible to participate in the civic right to vote.

For additional information contact:
Darren.Wheelock@Marquette.edu