

McAdams, John

From: Office of the Provost
Sent: Thursday, November 10, 2016 10:59 AM
To: DL-HR-OTR-Combined
Cc: Baworowsky, John; Cole, Xavier; Hossenlopp, Jeanne; Kaser, Dale; Meyer, Gary; Myers, Daniel; Su, John; Watson, Jenny; Woods, Doug
Subject: Freedom Dreams Now: Black Lives, Brown Lives, Native Lives: All Lives Matter!

Please see the message and invitation below, sent on behalf of the event sponsors: Manresa for Faculty, Klingler College of Arts and Sciences, Office of the Provost, Center for Teaching and Learning, Office of Institutional Diversity and Inclusion, Jesuit Community at Marquette

SAVE THE DATE!
Wednesday, January 11, 2017
8:30 a.m. -2:30 p.m.
Eckstein Hall Conference Center
Faculty Conversations on Learning

FREEDOM DREAMS NOW:
BLACK LIVES, BROWN LIVES, NATIVE LIVES: ALL
LIVES MATTER!

The goals of this interdisciplinary all-campus faculty day are to:

- Provide a framework to discuss the social movements around African American, Latinx, and Native American lives
- Explore strategies for responding to student resistance to learning about the protest strategies of these groups
- Engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and conversation with faculty and students about the impact of these movements at Marquette and the Milwaukee community

Keynote by Joseph Brown, S.J.,
Director of the Africana Studies Department,
Southern Illinois University.