

[Fetzer's Graphics; Fr DSL Memo Dated 6/4/10]

Below are some of the graphics used in connection with Fetzer's podcasts, which are on the screen during his YouTube presentation, as he reads aloud from "Stranger than Fiction," Pastore's book promoting the theory that Israel was responsible for 9/11.

From beginning to end, it is clear that Jim Fetzer endorses the view that Israel is responsible for the destruction of the World Trade Center in New York City on September 11, 2001. As far as I'm concerned, this is no less valid than another of Fetzer's pet theories—his view that Judyth (a disturbed woman, and a fantast, with an overactive imagination), was Lee Oswald's girlfriend during the summer of 1963. Fetzer has spent hundreds—if not thousands—of hours writing Internet posts promoting Judyth in the last six months, and attacking those who disagree with him as ill-informed (at best). The two theories are related because what they show a complete lack of judgment, on Fetzer's part, and an inability to "connect the dots" correctly. But the "by-products" of these two views are, in a way, polar opposites. Fetzer insists that Judyth is historically important because studying her account permits one to "humanize" Oswald. I should point out that by subscribing to Fetzer's 9/11 theories, one is plugged into an equally false conceptual apparatus—only in this case, one which permits one to demonize the Jews.

This happens when one enters upside down world view of Jim Fetzer—not just about 9/11 in particular, but "the Jews" in general. In Fetzer's view, "the Jews" (over the last 150 years, at least) are responsible for many of the evils of the modern world, and when one buys into his theory that the State of Israel was the responsible for the destruction of the World Trade Center on September 11, 2001, the circle is complete (as they say) and the elements are all there for demonizing the Jews, and for arguing, to a large extent, that they are the "first cause" of much evil in the modern world.

So: fasten your seatbelts and welcome to the political Disneyland that is the make-believe world of Jim Fetzer and his associates who believe that Israel is responsible for 9/11, as he reads aloud from Stranger than Fiction.

First comes the graphic used to make clear who Fetzer believes is responsible—the Jewish Star of David superimposed over the image of the burning Twin Towers in New York City. Then, as he continues to read aloud, one follows Jim Fetzer on his peculiar walk through the early 20th century, the formation of the state of Israel, the outbreak of World War II, the role of Jewish bankers in influencing world affairs, etc etc. ad nauseum.

You say you thought believing in Judyth was harmless—and just the aberration of an intellectual crank (albeit a Princeton graduate, with a Ph.D. degree in Philosophy from Indiana) involved in some oddball Kennedy assassination theory? Not so, because what this shows is a serious lack of judgment when it comes to evaluating historical data. So this is where that kind of "reasoning" leads, when applied to the wider view of history.

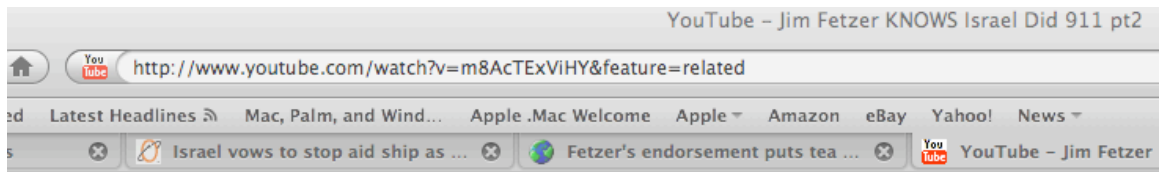

Jim Fetzer argues that “following Judyth” is important because it is a way of “humanizing Oswald”? Here is how following his decrepit reasoning, in the area of 9/11, provides the vehicle for demonizing Jews in general, and Israel in particular.
