If you would like to work in the GLBT community doing policy work, social work, advocacy or education, there are many agencies to consider. Here are just a few:

NGLTF - National Gay and Lesbian Task Force - internships for students. Job ads can also be found on their web page.

GayWork.com - a new employment service for gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgendered workers. Employers and recruiters can post job openings, and job seekers can post resumes. The databases of both can be searched. Because this service is very new, there are not a lot of postings yet, but it could become a valuable resource for GLBT workers and for employers seeking extraordinary talent.

www.hirediversity.com - This website has resources for special populations including African Americans, Asian Americans, disabled, gay & lesbian, Hispanics, Native Americans, and women. Their mission is to "facilitate excellence in diversity recruitment by bringing together human resources professionals with quality, prescreened, multicultural and/or bilingual professional candidates from diverse backgrounds."

National Organization of Gay and Lesbian Scientists and Technical Professionals
"NOGLSTP is a national organization of gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender people (and their advocates) employed or interested in scientific or high technology fields. NOGLSTP's goals include dialogue with professional organizations, disseminating information, improving our members employment and professional environment, opposing anti-queer discrimination and stereotypes, educating the queer, scientific, and general communities, and fostering inter-city contacts among our members."

http://www.lambdalegal.org/cgi-bin/iowa/index.html - terrific information and summaries of cases related to employment discrimination and other legal activity. This is the only group of its kind to have a regional office in the Midwest!
